ABOUT US

25 YEARS OF LEARNING IN ENVIRONMENT

Since its inception, Sneha School Sullia has been unwavering in its commitment to extending the Green School education and its benefits to as many local students as possible. Over the years, the school's development team spearheaded fundraising initiatives that played a pivotal role in financing this endeavor. As our donor community's support for the Local Scholarship Program and our Connection has grown nationwide, and as our fundraising campaigns have achieved increasing success each year, we recognized the need to enhance our efforts. This led to the expansion of our team and the establishment of our distinct identity as the Green School, Sullia Foundation in 1995. Consequently, the Sneha School Foundation was officially established as a separate legal entity from Green School. Our primary focus remains on nurturing and expanding fundraising endeavors to support local community integration programs at Sneha School Sullia. The Foundation has been duly registered as a nonprofit organization in India, granting us the authority to execute social programs and engage in philanthropic activities. Our overarching goal is to holistically develop children, imbuing them with rational human values while fostering a profound respect for culture, and environment, and a strong sense of patriotism.

Vision Statement

“Development of the child towards rational-human values, with respect and care for culture and nature, fostering a sense of belonging,” and

Mission Statement

“To foster the upcoming generation of local change-makers by actively involving them in a forward-thinking, comprehensive, and intellectually stimulating educational journey deeply rooted in sustainability and aligned with spiritual values,”

We are deeply committed and resolutely driven to carry forth the legacy of the Sneha School Founders, the unwavering support of past and present donors, and the dedication of our community members in catalyzing positive transformation in Sullia through the educational initiatives of Green School. Our paramount objective is to ensure that this year's full-time Local Scholarship recipients, along with over 100 children hailing from the villages of Sullia, can maintain uninterrupted access to the Sneha School Sullia campus. This continuity of access grants them numerous opportunities to effect meaningful change within their communities and far beyond. It is important to acknowledge that without your invaluable support, we would not have reached our current position in advancing our mission of educating local change-makers. Now, more than ever, your contribution will serve as the catalyst for the hopes and aspirations of our local scholars. We extend our heartfelt gratitude for your continued involvement in this educational journey for Sullia. Thank you for being an integral part of this endeavor.

REFLECTION

Reflections on the year

Dear Friends of Sneha School,

We take immense pleasure in presenting to you our Annual Report for the year 2023/24. This year has been monumental, bustling, and truly exquisite as we concluded the implementation of our Strategic Plan for 2022-23 and commemorated our 25th Anniversary. It was a year of retrospection as well as progression. It proved to be action-packed as we diligently pursued the strategic priorities of refining our curriculum, fostering an increase in student-led real projects, establishing national connections, nurturing a joyful community, maintaining the splendor of our natural campus, governing with unwavering diligence, and enhancing the financial sustainability of our nonprofit institution.

Our community warmly embraced over 70 new families, along with nine new Balinese Scholar students. Furthermore, we extended our welcome to 350 students from neighboring villages and hosted over 20 visiting educators for training sessions. Our gates were open to media visits, and numerous guests took campus tours.

This remarkable year also witnessed the unveiling of a tribute to our 25th Anniversary and inspired by the iconic Heart of School building, which stands at the campus's core. It symbolizes generational growth and the robust emergence of our three-pillared model - Learning, Community, and Environment - which has defined our journey over the years.

WITH GREAT RESPECT.

DR. CHANDRASHEKHARA DAMLE
PRESIDENT

I find myself privileged to present this report of the emergence and growth of our Sneha Primary School in Sullia of Dakshina Kannada District, Karnataka State. This has been the premier school established in 1996 by our Sneha Shikshana Samsthe in Kannada medium and has traversed 25 years with some landmarks in academic achievements. Our school is recognized by the Karnataka State Education board. Now this unaided school has reached the threshold of celebrating Silver Jubilee this year, in 2021. I am very happy to note the presence of the Education Minister of the Karnataka State Sri Suresh Kumar Jee among the guests of honour in today's function.

While we planned to bring out a commemorative issue of the Silver Jubilee of Sneha Primary school, our senior students have voluntarily come forward to support its publication. Moreover, they have participated in the silver celebrations with pride about the school. This volume consists of the memories of the activities and achievements of the past twenty five years. We thank all the parents who have supported our philosophy of education and sent their children to learn here.

I am thankful to the Managing committee for the full support with confidence on my ability to run the school. Further, I thank all those who have helped me in my career such as colleagues, students, various committee members.

WITH GREAT RESPECT.

JAYALAXMI DAMLE.

being in nature
From desk of advisory board

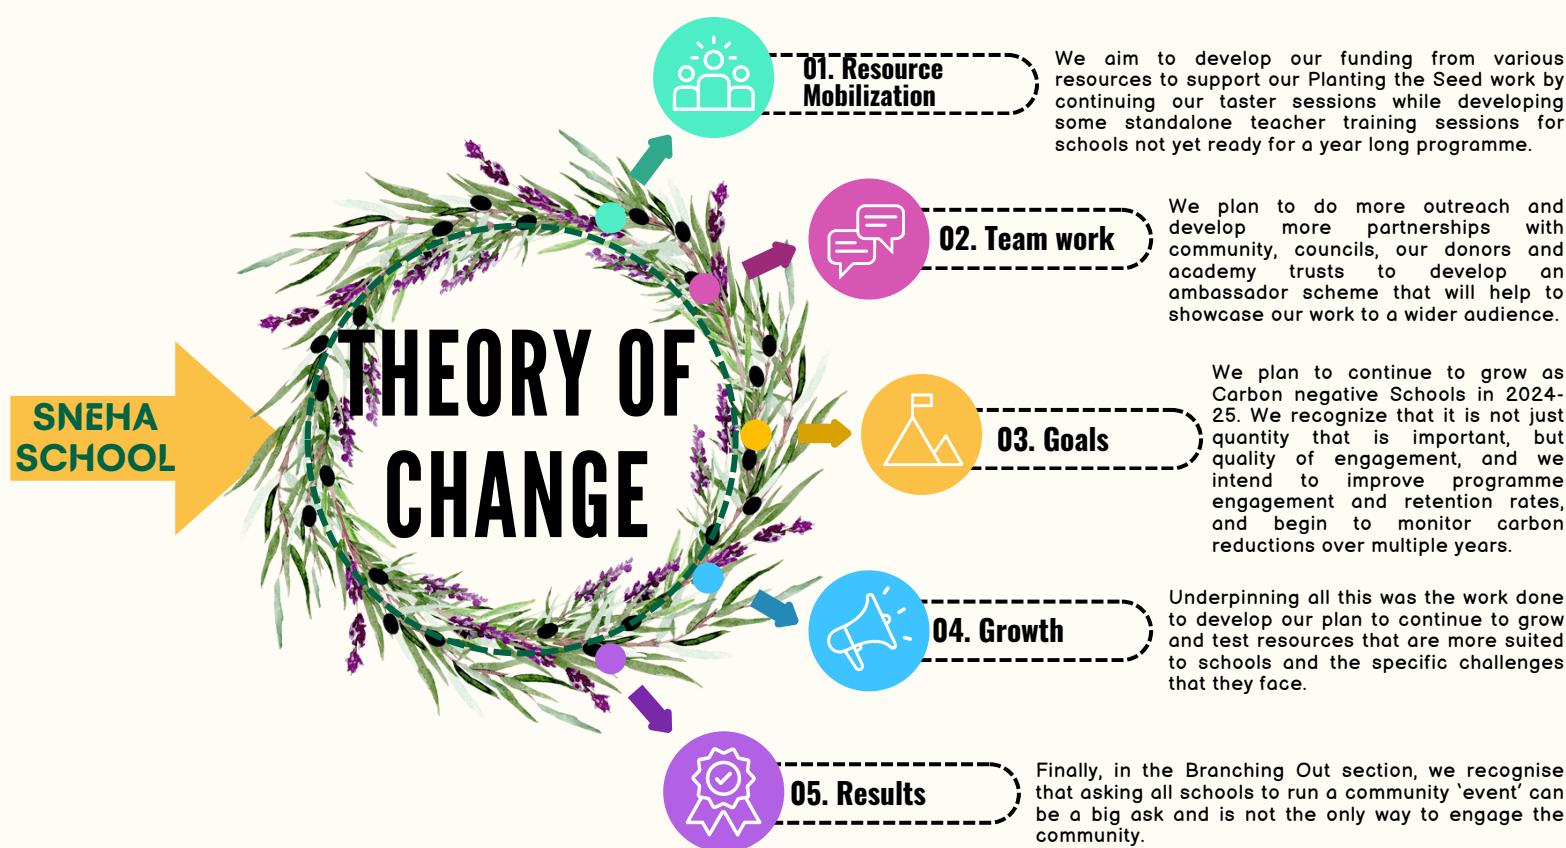

In an era marked by rapid urbanization, technology-driven lives, and the ever-expanding concrete jungles, there's an emerging movement that seeks to bring our children closer to nature and rekindle their deep-rooted connection with the environment. This movement, often referred to as "schooling in forests" or "nature-based education," is gaining momentum worldwide as educators and parents recognize its profound benefits. Let's delve into the concept of schooling in forests and the invaluable nature connection it fosters.

Sneha schools, inspired by the old Gurukul model, are not confined within traditional classroom walls; instead, harness the rich and ever-changing outdoor environment, often a forest, as the primary setting for learning.

In Sneha School, children spend a significant part of their school days outdoors, immersing themselves in the natural world. Lessons are designed to be experiential, hands-on, and rooted in the immediate environment. Students explore the woods, observe wildlife, build shelters, climb trees, and engage in activities that encourage critical thinking and problem-solving. This approach transforms nature into a living textbook, with every tree, leaf, and stream becoming a source of knowledge.

Schooling in forests and nature connection go hand in hand, and the benefits are manifold:

- Holistic Development: Holistic development by addressing physical, emotional, social, and cognitive aspects of a child's growth. Outdoor activities promote physical fitness, build emotional resilience, and encourage teamwork and communication.
- Environmental Stewardship: By immersing children in natural settings, forest schools instill a sense of responsibility and appreciation for the environment. Young learners develop a deep understanding of ecosystems, biodiversity, and the impact of human activities on nature.
- Creativity and Imagination: Children in schools often engage in unstructured play, which stimulates their imagination and problem-solving abilities. Natural materials like sticks, leaves, and rocks become tools for artistic expression.
- Empathy and Well-being: Spending time in nature has been linked to reduced stress levels and improved mental well-being. It also encourages empathy and compassion as children develop a deeper connection with animals and the natural world.
- Love for Learning: Nature-based education sparks curiosity and a genuine love for learning. When lessons are hands-on and tied to real-life experiences, children become more eager to explore and discover.
- Environmental Literacy: As the world grapples with environmental challenges, fostering environmental literacy is crucial. Along with a routine state/CBSE syllabus, the School curriculum equips students with the knowledge and values to become environmentally responsible citizens.
- Sustainability Mindset: Children learn about sustainable practices by observing the delicate balance of ecosystems and understanding the importance of conservation.

"Nurturing generations with forest-based holistic learning, dedicated to sustainability and the journey to carbon-negative schools."

Activities in student's Eco Club

While the benefits of schooling in forests are evident, challenges do exist. Weather conditions can be unpredictable, and ensuring safety in outdoor environments is paramount. Additionally, adapting curriculum standards to outdoor settings requires creativity and resourcefulness.

To address these challenges, Sneha schools often have dedicated educators who receive specialized training in outdoor education and risk management. They also develop adaptable lesson plans that allow for seamless transitions between indoor and outdoor learning. Furthermore, collaborative efforts between educators, parents, and communities help create a supportive environment for nature-based education. As we navigate an increasingly urbanized and technologically driven world, it is imperative that we preserve and promote the invaluable bond between children and nature. Sneha School and nature-based education offer a beacon of hope, reminding us that the path to a sustainable and harmonious future begins with the earth beneath our feet, the trees overhead, and the wonders of the natural world all around us.

SNEHA SCHOOL GOVERNANCE

A COMMUNITY-MINDED MODEL

The governance structure and policies of Sneha Shikshana Samsthe, which administers Sneha School Sullia under Indian law, embody the inclusive ethos and diverse community that thrive within the school's green forest environment. Established in 1995/96, this governance model has remained consistently in place through 2023/24 and continues to guide the institution today. The governance framework not only adheres to the legal requirements for foundations in India but also aligns seamlessly with the Deed of Establishment and the Articles of Association as stipulated by the Societies Registration Act.

ORGANISATION

From strategic planning to operational execution, the governance of Green School is structured through its key bodies: the Trustees, Advisors, Board of Management, and Executive Committee. Each plays a vital role in ensuring the school's vision and mission is fulfilled and its goals are met, fostering a cohesive and well-managed educational environment.

SCHOOL LEADERSHIP

Guided by the strategic direction and annual budget established by the Trustees, the Sneha School Board of Management is responsible for overseeing the execution of annual operating plans. The Board also provides support and guidance to the School's management team, ensuring that objectives are effectively achieved.

"INTERNATIONAL INTERNS AT OUR SCHOOL"

Graduation-level students from abroad with a strong interest in the study of the environment come to our school in their self-interest. They come to stay for a couple of weeks. They participate in school activities and mingle with the students easily. Their interest lies in understanding the importance of the environment. Getting to know the local culture and habits becomes a small project for them. In June, July, and August 2005, Celine Johannik from France served as an honorary teacher at Sneha School. She Taught French songs to students. Celine said:

My visit to this place has made me realize the concept of naturalism. Education in the lap of nature, no doubt, is a privilege in the era of computers and technology. The students are close to nature and have the opportunity to learn and experience knowledge through first-hand information. I wish this institution and Prof. Damle a very bright future while looking forward to more such visits.

After spending 4 months in Sneha school, I have started to see this place as my second home. The environment is amazing, the modern ideas of education are inspiring, the cultural activities are many and colorful and most of all, the members of the Sneha family are friendly, open-minded, and caring. This has been an unforgettable experience and opportunity for me and I will always be thankful to you for welcoming me so heartily. It is inspiring to find a school with so much affection towards the students and with so much engagement as you have shown me. The students are lucky and by studying in this environment I believe, they will develop in many more ways than only studies. After these months with your students, who have shown me respect, interest, and curiosity, I can truly say that this school is a great success. Thank you so much for this time, I will be forever grateful.

Cecilia, Sweden (November 2011 to February 2012)

Sneha for me meant the real experience in India. I was able to see here a perfect balance, a perfect combination of nature and civilization, a place where you can learn how useful can be the nature for our life. I learned here how to live in harmony with nature, and how to build something nice without destroying surrounding vegetation. Sullia and Sneha are a place for people who want to explore the real India and want to learn what is means to life in India. Thank you for showing me another way to live.

It is my great pleasure and one of my memorable days to have been able to visit this Sneha School. The passion, innovation, and selfless work are so inspiring that I would advise a lot of youngsters should visit this place for true to its name, Sneha is a symbol of friendship between nature and humane, between education and nature and between people. The location and buildings are also very special as well as the warm interaction between all staff and children- a most memorable visit to a unique and unusual school. Thank you!

Catherine, England (9th January, 2006)

It was a sweet experience to visit your school. It was very interesting to listen to what you told us about your school. We learned a lot about plants and how to lead children. So I will say thank you to you. I hope I can come again and stay the whole day long with the people and share time with you. So thank you for inviting us. Hope to see you again
